You Should Be the Same

A LARGE number of women's ailments are not surgical ones. Serious displacements or radical changes have not yet taken place.

A tiny part in a fine clock may become loose and cause the clock to gain or lose. If not attended to in time, the part may fall from its place and cause serious trouble. So it is with women's ailments, they start from simple causes; but if allowed to continue, produce serious conditions.

When the warning symptoms are first noted, take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve the present trouble—some ailment, and to prevent the development of serious trouble.

North Troy, N. Y.—"When I was a young girl I had a severe female trouble. Mother gave me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and after taking several bottles I was strong and well. When my daughter got married she was feeling miserable and I recommended your medicine. She is greatly improved in health and has a beautiful baby boy four months old. So you see this letter comes from the third generation and you may use it as you wish."—Mrs. R. M. GREENAWAY, 557 4th Ave., North Troy, N. Y.

Hutchinson, Kan.—"I was about 13 years old when I developed a female weakness. My mother took me to a doctor and I doctored for several months. I was too sick to do anything, was as thin as could be, and my complexion was yellow. Mother had used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it had helped her so much that she got some for me and before I had finished the second bottle I was feeling fine and have been ever since."—Mrs. J. A. STEVENS, 716 E. 9th St., Hutchinson, Kan.

TREASURE HUNTING, ISLANDS OF JAPAN

Papeete, Tahiti, Oct. 11.—(By Mail)—The year 1921 has been the open season for treasure hunting in the islands. Every month or so a report that the vast treasure (alleged to have been buried some sixty years ago) on the island of Puna had at last been located, has induced a new company of adventurous Papeete capitalists to equip a fresh expedition only to return with nothing more than a goodly coat of sunburn and back aching from the strenuous exercise of digging for weeks in the blistering coral sand.

Then, early in the year, came the yacht "Genesee" from New York in search of a great treasure of gold, said to have been left on the island of Tuna Manu, in the western Society Islands, by the German Pacific squadron when they were flying from the pursuing British and Japanese fleets in 1914. Much real estate on Tuna Manu flew into the firmament on that occasion, under the action of good charges of dynamite; but the "Genesee" sailed away leaving the treasure to be discovered by a future explorer. And now there is the story of a new treasure. The tale is, that about fifty years ago a Chilean warship deposited on the island of Moorea (the island close to Papeete) a treasure of gold, belonging to the Chilean government.

that time—as a measure to keep it from falling into the hands of a strong revolutionary party. The revolution must have been successful; for none returned to take away the gold, the story runs. Years afterwards, however, the Protestant missionary at Moorea received a letter from a priest in Chile enclosing an outline drawing easily recognized as the outline of the mountain peaks about Opunohy Bay in Moorea, asking for information of the location of the islands so represented, and stating that he had knowledge of a treasure buried there. The missionary having visions of ungodly adventures corrupting his flock decided to tear up the letter and drawing without dispatching the answer.

Nothing more was heard of the affair until a month ago when a stranger arrived in the island bearing charts and drawings, which, he claimed, would lead him to the treasure. Reports from Moorea state that, at the place indicated on his chart, on digging down, he came upon a concrete slab and great was the excitement until the slab was broken through and a cavity, about three feet in depth, was disclosed containing absolutely nothing. The seeker is, however, hopeful and is hard at work digging and sounding in the valleys about the bay.

ANNUAL MEETING OF LORDS DAY ALLIANCE

New York, Nov. 21.—A plea for a more strict head of the house rule in the home was voiced by Mrs. Walter E. Ellis, president of the Woman's Sabbath Alliance, at the thirty-third annual meeting of the Lord's Day Alliance of the United States. Mrs. Ellis said, are too prone to leave control of their children to mothers, with the result that they are losing the respect of the children. With their heads and shoulders above the similar sports should be prohibited on the Sabbath.

Rev. C. S. Kemble, took issue with other members of the alliance on Sunday prohibition, asserting that "Puritan Protestants" had no right to seek legislation affecting the Sunday lives of persons not in agreement with their faith. The work of the organization, he asserted, should be confined to the spread of propaganda urging more rigid observance of the Sabbath.

SCORE SURETY COMPANIES' BAIL FOR LAW BREAKERS

New York, Nov. 21.—Surety companies that bail out law breakers with long criminal records come in for a scorching arraignment today when Judge Talley vacated the bond of John Ransky and remanded him to await trial. The records showed Ransky arrested 20 times since 1913, with 12 convictions as a pick-pocket. "Surety companies that furnish bail to men with such records should not be permitted to do business," Judge Talley declared. "It is shocking and if the surety companies aid and abet such a thing it is time to change the law and prevent their doing so."

PRISONERS IN WATERFORD JAIL ON HUNGER STRIKE

Cork, Nov. 21.—Seventeen prisoners in the Waterford jail have begun a hunger strike owing to the refusal of the government to grant them increased time for recreation.

KILLED A HEIFER AND TOOK CHOICE CUTS

Bristol, Conn., Nov. 21.—Something new in police investigation was given the Bristol police today. So far as recorded a similar complaint had never before been entered on the blotter. Yesterday afternoon someone shot and killed a heifer in the herd of August Semproni, dragged the carcass to a deserted quarry in a nearby lot, skinned and quartered it and carried away the hind and fore quarters. The skin, ribs, about three feet in depth, was disclosed containing absolutely nothing. The seeker is, however, hopeful and is hard at work digging and sounding in the valleys about the bay.

INDICTMENTS OF NEW YORK BOOTLEGGING SYNDICATE

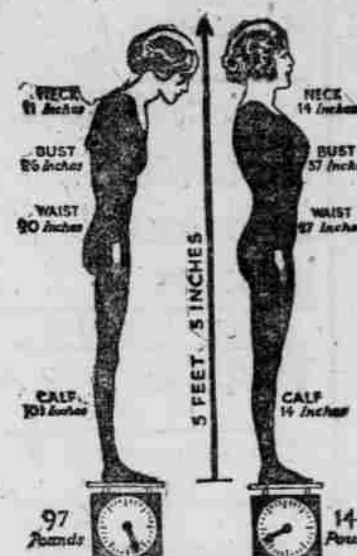

Newark, N. J., Nov. 21.—The federal grand jury has handed down a number of indictments charging conspiracy in connection with what federal prohibition agents term a big New York bootlegging syndicate, with a source of supply in this city.

What became known today with arrest of Charles Shugart, in New York, a real estate broker. Indicted at the same time were Louis C. La Brecque, president of the La Brecque Warehouse company and that the deal was to have been closed the day after Louis La Brecque's arrest. Dr. Gardner also has been arrested. Sands claims New Yorkers had agreed to purchase from mth La Brecque a two-thirds interest in the warehouse company and that the deal was to have been closed the day after Louis La Brecque's arrest.

POETRY

MOBILITY.
True worth is in being not seeming.
In doing each day that good by
Some little good—not in dreaming
Of good things to do by and so.

For whatever men say in their blindness
And in spite of the fancies of youth,
There's nothing so kindly as kindness
And nothing so royal as truth.

We get back our me as we measure
We cannot do wrong and feel right,
Nor can we give pain and feel pleasure
For justice avenges each slight.

The air for the wing of the swallow
The hush for the robin and wren,
But always the path that is narrow
And straight for the children of men.

We cannot make bargains for blessing
Nor catch them like fishes in nets;
And sometimes the thing our life needs
Helps more than the thing that it gets.

For good itself is in pursuing
Nor gaining of great and small;
But just in the doing and doing
As we would be done by, is all.

Through envy, through malice, through hatred, through spite and spite,
Against the world early and late,
No lot of our course afloat.

Our part is to work and to wait,
And slight is the sting of his trouble,
Whose wrongs are less than his worth.

For he who is honest is noble,
Whose life is a flower and a tree,
—After Cary, in Indianapolis News.

THE RAINY DAY.
The day is cold, and dark, and dreary;
It rains, and the wind is never weary;
The vine shall cling to the wall,
But at every gust the dead leaves fall.
And the day that is so dreary,
My life is cold, and dark, and dreary;
It rains, and the wind is never weary;
My thoughts still cling to the mouldering past,
But the hopes of youth fall thick in the past,
And the days are dark and dreary.

Be still, and beat! and settle, lodging,
And the clouds are raining;
The fate is the common fate of all,
Into each life some rain must fall,
Some days are sunny, some are gray.
—Henry Wadsworth Longfellow.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Mrs. Benham—"I think I am going to have fallen asleep."
Benham—"I wouldn't cross a bridge until I came to it"—Exchange.

"There's a perfect match."
"That's all right, but I never saw it."
"Yes; she's a perfect match and a stick."
—Western Crier's Advertiser.

Friend Wife—What do you men know about women's clothes?
"I know," replied the husband, "Grand Rapids News."

Ted—Tom hopes to marry that rich girl, and is using regular business methods to get her.
Ned—Yes, he's adopted the follow-up plan.—New York Sun.

"Why do you always read flowers?"
"I'm not going to have her share my early winter garden."—Argument.

The instructor: "The denser the medium through which it passes, the better sound travels. Do you understand, dear?"
She, innocently—Is that why you can hear so much better than I?—Science and Invention.

Mrs. Nowells: "Suzanne, tell Robert, the teacher, that if he must smoke in the kitchen he must better smoke there."
Suzanne: "I did tell him, but he said they're the best cigars master has."
The Retiree Tobaccoist.

"Where are her books?" she asked there on the mantel in that "case."
"Indeed?"
"Yes, and pick them up, catfishes, they lay on their backs."—Florida Times-Herald.

Johnny—Did Moses have dyspepsia? How would you know?
Dad—How on earth do I know? Why do you ask such a question?
Johnny—Well, our Sunday school teacher says the Lord gave Moses two tablets.—London Mail.

She—Don't you think we would better go back through England again on the way home?
He—But we did England.
She—I know. I don't know where we were there, if all the lovely new ruins the suffragists have made.—Life.

Mother—"The tried to hard to make you a good child, Margaret, and yet in spite of all my efforts you are still rude and angry."
Margaret (deeply moved)—What a failure you are, mother.—London Weekly Telegraph.

"Is your mamma at home?" asked a caller of little five-year-old Lela.
"No, but she will be home in a minute," was the reply.
"How do you know?" inquired the caller.
"Cause she said about an hour ago she was just going to run over to a neighbor's for a minute," answered Lela.—Exchange.
